

Presentations- Voice and Body Roleplay Cards

Give a formal or informal presentation on the topic your teacher gives you while doing the thing that is written on the roleplay card they give you, e.g. "Speak very very loudly". Your partner should try to guess what is written on your roleplay card, then discuss how good or bad that thing is.

|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Avoid eye contact |
| Keep your arms crossed |
| Stare off into space |
| Stare at the person/ people listening |
| Try to sound bored and boring |
| Sit on your hands (to stop yourself using any gestures) |
| Move your body the whole time, e.g. making lots of gestures |
| Fidget (= repeat an unconscious gesture such as scratching your nose or tapping your foot) |
| Keep your eyes on your notes |
| Slouch (= sit in an extremely relaxed position) |
| Sit on the very front edge of your chair with your back straight and rigid |
| Smile as much as you can |
| Avoid smiling |

Discuss how good or bad the things written on the other cards below are, then give each other advice about voice and body language/ gestures in presentations.
