

Describing Places- Adjective Word Order

Work in groups of two or three. Take turns describing an imaginary natural place (each), one sentence at a time. Use as many adjectives as you can in each sentence, making sure that the adjectives match the noun and that you have the adjectives in the right order. You can only use each adjective and noun once. When the teacher stops the game, vote on which of whose natural places sounds best.

Adjective word order grammar presentation

What is the rule for adjective word order?

Do factual adjectives or opinion adjectives go closer to the noun (= later in the sentence)?

Combine some adjectives from above with a noun, see which order seems most natural, and check that it matches the rule that you discussed above.

Do the same creating and comparing activity with one (imaginary) city each.
