

Good and Taboo- Past Progressive Questions

Together rank each question below as:

1. an easy normal small talk question which you could ask a stranger
2. a question that you could ask to someone who you know a little such as a colleague
3. a question that you could only ask to someone you know well such as an old friend
4. a taboo question that you would never ask anyone

Ask about any questions which you couldn't understand and/ or couldn't rank, discussing the rank as a class each time, until you have a number of points between one and four next to each. (You don't necessarily have to agree on the points with the teacher or other groups as long as you write something).

Take turns asking and answering questions from below, with the person who will answer rolling a dice to decide what kind of question they will answer each time:

1. one-point question
2. two-point question
3. three-point question
4. four-point question
5. free choice (= choose what kind of question you want)
6. free choice

If your teacher tells you to score, you get that many points (e.g. three points if the dice says three) if you answer the question, but no points if you refuse to answer with "I'm afraid...", "I'd rather...", etc.

Make more questions with Past Progressive, if possible with all four ranks. Another group will rank your questions, then discuss if you agree with the rankings or not. Then play the same game with the questions which you discussed the rankings of.
