

There is/ There are- How many board game

Move around the board by getting your partner to say numbers up to ten.

beds	in... bedroom	topic: bedding	in... bag	START in this area books	Instructions Ask a "How many... are there...?" question using the words or on the topic in the square that you are on, e.g. "How many beds are there in your house?" for "beds", "How many pets are there in your family?" for "pets", "How many coins are there in your bag?" for "in... bag", or "How many plates are there in your kitchen?" for "topic: cutlery". Your partner will answer with a full sentence such as "There are three beds in my house", "There is only one pet in my family", "There are about 20 coins in my bag", or "There are no plates in my kitchen but there are many plates in the dining room". You can then move the number that your partner said in that answer, unless the number is over 10, in which case you can't move. If your partner says "There are no...", you also can't move. If you can't move, you have to try again with the same task when it is next your turn. Move anti-clockwise round and round the board until your teacher stops the game. The person who is ahead at that time is the winner.			windows bottles of				in... wardrobe in this building				towels chairs				topic: sports equipment topic: clothes				topic: furniture in this country				topic: food topic: crockery				in this street cupboards				stools
topic: cutlery				topic: shops duvets				in this school in... dining room				in this room topic: electronics				posters in... hall/ corridor				in... pockets in... home				pets
jars of				pictures
in... kitchen				in... living room