

How Questions Game- Good and Bad

In groups of two or three, have real conversations using “How...?” questions and responses like those below, avoiding unsuitable conversations by thinking carefully about:

- When you are speaking
- Your relationship (and so how personal you can be)
- What you already know about your partner
- What questions and responses are rarely or never suitable

You also can't repeat questions that you or other people have used (and you can't use “How about you?”/ “And you?” on its own to do that), but try to make the next question or topic similar if you can to make the conversation go smoothly. You can also ask extra follow-up questions like “Why...?” if you like.

Ask about any questions or responses below which you don't know how to use and/ or don't know how to respond to.

Underline questions and responses which are rarely suitable/ which you be careful about using.

Compare with the ones in bold below. Other answers are possible.

Find questions and responses which have (basically) the same meanings.

Compare with the suggested answers below. All others probably have different meanings, so check that you understand the differences.
