

Like & don't like coin games

Work in pairs. Play games from below (your own choice or the one or ones your teacher tells you to).

Like don't like answer me coin game

Heads = One point if your partner says "Yes, I do" when you ask a "Do you like...?" question

Tails = One point if your partner says "No, I don't" when you ask them a "Do you like...?" question

Heads = One point if your partner says "Yes, I do" when you ask a question about their likes

Tails = One point if your partner says "Yes, he does" or "Yes, she does" when you ask them about other people's likes (no points for "I don't know")

Like don't like things in common coin games

Heads = One point if you can find something you both like

Tails = One point if you can find something you both don't like

Heads = One point for something you like or don't like and your partner feels the same about (= the same feelings)

Tails = One point for something you like and your partner doesn't or you don't like and your partner likes (= different feelings)

Like don't like coin bluffing games

Heads = Make a true statement about something you like or don't like

Tails = Make a false statement about something you like or don't like (= a lie/ something that isn't true)

Your partner will then guess if what you said is true or not (perhaps after asking for more details with questions like "Why don't you like...?")

Heads = Make a true or false statement about something you like

Tails = Make a true or false statement about something you don't like

Your partner will then guess if what you said is true or not (perhaps after asking for more details with questions like "Why don't you like...?")

Heads = Make a true statement and then a false statement about things you like and/ or dislike

Tails = Make a false statement and then a true statement about things you like/ and or dislike

Your partner will then guess which statement is true (perhaps after asking questions like "So, don't you eat...?")

Like don't like personalised guessing games

Heads = Try to make true statement about something your partner likes

Tails = Try to make a true statement about something your partner dislikes

Heads = Try to make a true statement about your partner's likes or dislikes

Tails = Try to make a true statement about the likes or dislikes of someone who your partner knows, e.g. their friend or their grandfather

Heads = Try to make a true statement about your partner's likes and dislikes and one of the topics on the left below.

Tails = Try to make a true statement about your partner's likes and dislikes and one of the topics on the right below.

| Heads    | Tails           |
|-----------------|------------------------|
| Sports          | Colours                |
| Foods           | Drinks                 |
| Places          | Clothes                |
| Animals         | Activities (= Actions) |
| School subjects | Music                  |
| Fruit           | Vegetables             |