Make longer versions of those phrases, preferably without changing the meaning. You might need to slightly change some of these words.

Check your answers with the teacher or the answer key.

Test each other in pairs by reading out the long versions and getting your partner to shorten them.

Do the same thing the other way round, asking your partner to lengthen the phrases.

Do the same but mixing them up. Your partner must remember if what you say is the short or long version and then make the other version.
