

Socialising- prepositions and determiners pairwork

Take a Student A or Student B worksheet and work with someone with the other worksheet, not showing your worksheets to each other.

Choose one section and say one example with the word in bold missing, e.g. "It's a bit too big BLANK one person" or "Do you have BEEP allergies?" Your partner should guess what the missing word is. They can only guess once per hint. If they are wrong, give them another example from the same section (i.e. with the same word missing). Continue with one guess per hint until your partner guesses correctly, making more examples yourself with the same missing word if they don't guess before you run out of examples on your worksheet. Then switch roles and try to guess the missing word from your partner's examples. Continue taking turns giving hints and guessing until your teacher stops the game. You can go back to the same section later if you still have examples left.

Ask about any phrases which you don't understand or think could have a different word in the gap.

Swap worksheets and do the same again, this time making sure that you choose the most challenging categories and examples first (because your partner has already seen them).

Do the brainstorming stage below, then check your answers.

Choose one section of the brainstorming stage below and see if your partner can guess the words in bold in that section, this time meaning different words in each phrase.
