Choose a sentence below. Fill two gaps with true information and one gap with false information. Then do the same with as many different sentences below as you can, mixing up where you put the false information each time (sometimes in the first gap, sometimes in the second gap, and sometimes in the third gap).

I sometimes read _____, _____ and _____.

I can ride _____, _____ and _____.

I often eat _____, _____ and _____.

I never wear _____, _____ and _____.

I can play _____, _____ and _____.

I want to study _____, _____ and _____.

I never talk _____, _____ and _____.

Read out one of your sentences above and see if your partner can guess which option is false. Then take turns doing the same. If you are scoring, you get one point for each of your partner's options that you guess correctly, and one point for each of yours that your partner guesses wrongly.

Ask about any sentences above which you don't understand, couldn't complete, are not sure that you completed correctly, etc, trying to guess which of your teacher's three related options are wrong each time.

Do the same, but making your own sentences with "I... _____, _____ and _____" and with different verbs and/ or different times to the sentences above.

Do the same, but giving your partner the "I... _____, _____ and _____" blanked sentence that they should use to make their true or false statement.
