

Will for Spontaneous Decisions- Getting reactions speaking card game

Work in groups of 2 or 3. Deal out all the actions and/ or times cards that your teacher gives you. You can look at all your cards, but don't show them to your partner(s). Say something to your partner to try to get an "I'll..." spontaneous decision sentence from them, e.g. a phrase using something from the box below such as "Have you heard that it is going to rain?" Continue with similar sentences until you get an "I'll..." sentence from them. All "I'll..." answers must include a time, and students can't answer with things written on their own cards. If the response from your partner matches one of your cards e.g. "I'll buy an umbrella then" if you have the "I'll buy..." card, you can discard that card. Continue switching roles and doing the same thing until your teacher stops the game. The person who has fewest cards left in their hand wins the game.
